Sample Communication ePortfolios
Department of Communication & Theatre Arts
Old Dominion University
(Beck & Lietzenmayer)

Former students have graciously offered to share their hard work as samples for future semesters!
Assignments will vary between the courses you take—but in general all of the samples below meet the basic requirements for set-up, design, and general presentation of work. Please know that your instructor will review your work closely—and the University has advanced capabilities for analyzing attempts at plagiarism. Don't chance it!

In some cases students wanted to share their outline or ePortfolio design, in others students offered the entire Wix page as a sample. Remember—as students graduate, take additional courses, and continue to tweak their ePortfolios some layouts and designs might be different than the images below. These are ongoing projects for many students, so if you have a question about a particular choice for your ePortfolio, be sure to ask your instructor! These samples are meant to serve as inspiration to make your Communication ePortfolio unique, professional, and the best possible archive of your Communication writing as you move into new professional endeavors!

The following are sample highlight design and layout choices!

ABOUT TIA

Tia Delano is a seasoned professional with over decade of experience in both public and private sectors. Each role has been progressively challenging and rewarding. Tia's current position as an administrative assistant, offers a chance to be in a "Jill of All Trades" role, offering support to 36 employees in a legal office, as well as serving as as backup for the Management Information and Legal Services function.

Tia is currently transitioning into a career in media relations and public affairs. Prior to making this career change, she received an Associate of Science degree from J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College, and she is completing my Bachelor of Science degree through Old Dominion University, as a Professional Communication major. She has successfully completed coursework in Interpersonal Communication, Technical Writing, New Media Technology, Introduction to Public Relations, as well as other related courses.

WELCOME
"Measure a man by the effectiveness of his bravery and the strength of his beliefs"

I am currently pursuing a Bachelor Degree of Science in Business Management at Old Dominion University. As the owner of Above Legends, I take the initiative to be involved in every aspect from designing to marketing strategies. With over 8 years of experience in the hospitality field, I am more than familiar with the different aspects of customer service. I draws inspiration from God and my family. With a humble attitude, I intend to be a force within the tourism and fashion industry. With my vision I plan to promote self-love and excellence among others.

SITE ASSESSMENT
WHAT I (DON'T) LIKE:

My website is slowly coming together. I like the overall layout of the site and the color scheme. I like the drop down menus that are allowed on the menu bar. I opted to go for a straight forward blog format. I'm still working on filling out some of the blank areas on the site. I need to contribute more than just class assignments to fill it up with more content to make it more enjoyable for visitors. Any recommendations or critiques are welcome.

More to come in future semesters!
